Dr. Moody Stresses Discipline

Asks Students to Realize Responsibilities And Accept Them

EMPHASIZES NEED FOR APPLICATION

In his opening chapel address last Thursday morning, President Paul D. Moody urged Middlebury students to realize that their present task is to do the work at hand, accepting a middle path and thus avoiding the extreme of war hysteria or the opposite extreme of a completely detached attitude.

As he spoke, President Moody emphasized the fact that he was not making his address with an eye towards headlines nor was he trying to make any new or startling statements. Knowledge of today's situation is plentiful he observed, but there is a lack of application of this knowledge and a failure to realize and act.

Citing the destruction of Jerusalem and the barbaric invasions as local in comparison, President Moody made the point that there has never been anything analogous to what is going on in the world today.

Even within the "cloistered walls" of an institution, pressure is being felt. Already forty-nine members of Middlebury classes are serving in the armed forces while even the faculty has been affected. Thus, it is a mistake, President Moody pointed out, to say that the war does not touch us or to remain in an "isolated and insulated atmosphere." It cannot be denied, he continued, that society will be effected and that there will be shortages.

President Moody next presented some factors to be considered by the college students during these times. He asked that students realize the privileges they are enjoying and also to realize the responsibilities that are entailed within these privileges which are being denied to others, just as capable and eager.

Secondly, need or pressure may take these opportunities away and thus it is necessary to make the most of the present. In the third place, in colleges, as in the barracks, discipline may be acquired and if students can discipline themselves there will be no need for that from the outside.

In closing, President Moody stated that America will always need men and women with college training and that colleges must redouble their efforts to make their work more effective for democratic institutions.

Assembly Voting Comes Next Month

Election of Representatives Will Take Place on Two Sundays, October 5 and 12

Annual elections of the representatives to the Men's Student Assembly will be held at the various living centers at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, October 5, and at the same hour on Sunday, October 12, according to Stanwood F. Johnson '42, president of the Undergraduate Association.

At a meeting of the elections committee, held Sunday night, final counts were made of students at each living center, and the proper apportionments were made, in accordance with constitutional requirements. The following lists the number of student representatives allowed for each living center:

Gifford Hall	12
Painter Hall	5
Starr Hall	5
Hillcrest	2
Chi Psi	2
Delta Kappa Epsilon	2
All other fraternity houses	1 each
All off campus locations	3

Because of the lack of suitable polling places in Starr and Painter Halls, the elections of students to represent these dorms, will be held in the Warner Science hemicycle at the same time as the other elections. Students living off

Defense Work And Sabbaticals Effect Changes In College Faculty

Numerous changes in the faculty for the year of 1941-1942 greet returning Middlebury students, according to complete releases by the president's office. Regular sabbatical leaves, leaves for defense service and additions to departments account for most of these.

Dean John H. Patterson will be on leave until some time in December. He will be working with the Price Control administration in Washington, D. C. Prof. Ennis B. Womack will assume the dean's duties while Dr. Patterson is on leave.

In the American literature department Prof. Reginald L. Cook is taking a year's sabbatical leave. Substituting for him will be Mr. Alfred R. Ferguson, who comes to Middlebury following a year of graduate work at Yale university. Mr. Howard M. Mumford '34 becomes an instructor in the same department, filling the vacancy left by Mr. George W. Allen's resignation.

On sabbatical leave during the first semester is Prof. Stephen A. Freeman, head of the French department. His classes are being taken over by the remainder of the French faculty, with no additions in that department. Serving as acting editor during this year is Mrs. Elizabeth Bradstreet Walsh, a graduate of Wellesley college, who is substituting for Mr. W. Storrs Lee, now on leave for defense service. During the second semester Prof. James S. Prentice will be on sabbatical leave, but no announcement has been made concerning who will assume his duties.

New instructors include Mr. Sidney K. MacFarlane in the geology and geography department. Mr. MacFarlane, during the past year a research assistant at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, replaces Mr. Russell A. Norton, who resigned to accept a teaching position in New London, Conn. Mr. Peirce G. Couperus '37 joins the physics department as instructor where he replaces Mr. Vernon S. Andrews. Mr. Boylston Green will replace Mr. Lawrence Barrett as an instructor in the English department. Mr. Robert W. Rafuse, who recently received his Ph. D. from the University of Illinois, is the new instructor in the Political Science department. Prof. Walter T. Bogart, head of this department, is on leave in defense service,. and his duties here will be taken over by Mr. Lynford A. Lardner, now an assistant professor. Replacing Miss Fern Laking as instructor in women's physical education is Miss Mary Sweeney, who recently received a Master's degree from Wellesley college.

Returning to Middlebury after sabbatical leaves are Prof. Russell G. Sholes of the sociology department and

MEDICAL EXAMS FOR MEN'S COLLEGE WILL BE GIVEN BY LOCAL PHYSICIANS

It has been announced by Coach A. M. Brown, director of athletics, that the suggestion of college financed medical examinations for all men submitted last spring by the Men's Assembly, has been acted upon by the administration and is in effect this first term.

This suggestion which had its origin among the students last spring provides that every man in the Men's College undergo an examination by a local physician in the fall after he has arrived at school. The former system provided that this examination be undergone at home and at the expense of the student. The statement released by Coach Brown stated that this examination should be taken as soon as possible after college opens and must be completed by sophomores, juniors, and seniors, before October 15. Varsity and freshman football and cross country men should be examined when practice starts. Freshman not trying out for either football or cross country should arrange for appointments during the month of November. The cost of these examinations is included in the student health fee and is paid by the college. Office hours of the examining physicians are 1:00 P. M. to 3:00 P. M. and 6:30 P. M. to 8:00 P. M.

All doctors are supplied with the necessary medical blanks and students are requested to cooperate with the department of physical education and athletics by reporting to one of the following physicians as soon as possible. The following are the doctors who will examine students: B. J. Andrews, M. D., 10 College St.; S. S. Eddy, M. D., 93 Main St.; S. S. Eddy Jr., M. D., 93 Main St.; R. S. O'Connell, M. D., 17 Court St.

CPT Course Is Limited To Men As Quota Is Cut

Cut from a quota of twenty students per semester to ten, the CPT course will again offer instruction to men interested in flight training. Physical examinations are still being taken, so a complete list of men who will be eligible for the course is as yet unavailable.

Those instructors in charge last year will again teach the students. Prof. John G. Bowker, coordinator of aeronautical activities at Middlebury, will teach Civil Air regulations; Prof. Phelps N. Swett, meteorology; Prof. Benjamin F. Wissler, navigation. Joe Rock and Norm Grady will continue with the flight instruction.

The course will be run as it was last year, with the exception that it is open to men only.

Cutting Middlebury's quota is merely in keeping with a similar policy being carried out by the government in all colleges throughout the country. This year the national quota stands at eight thousand, as compared with the fifteen thousand of last year.

Of all colleges in the country, Middlebury's record of percentage of enlistments by former students is one of the highest, according to Professor Bowker. Five of the seven Middlebury men who were in training at Squantum are former members of the flight course here at Middlebury.

MT. CLUB TO HIKE TO LAKE PLEIAD

Mountain club activities for the year will open with a hike to Silent Cliff, Bailey's Falls, and Lake Pleiad this Sunday morning. It has also been announced that the Mountain club is sponsoring a poster contest for use by the Winter Carnival committee.

The competition is unlimited; entries may be submitted by members from both sides of the campus. All artistic efforts should be confined to the use of three colors.

Posters should be handed to either Elliot A. Baines '43, co-chairman of the Carnival, or to Lewis E. Haines '43, chairman of the publicity committee. The deadline for material submitted is October 1.

Prizes consist of a ticket to the Carnival ball for the winner from the men's college and a pass to the ski events for the successful entry from the women's college.

Trucks will leave Battell Cottage for the hike this Sunday at 8:45 and 10:00 o'clock, returning in time for chapel.

First Gym Dance To Be Held Saturday Evening

An informal gymnasium dance will be sponsored by the Undergraduate Association this Saturday night.

Music will be provided by the Black Panthers, ten pieces of which will be present to inaugurate the series of Saturday night gym dances. The price of admission is sixty cents per couple and dancing will be from eight to eleven o'clock.

Registration Total Largest In History

804 Students in College As 418 Men Enroll Despite Expected Loss to Draft

Leaping again beyond former records, Middlebury enrolled a total of 804 undergraduate students, or 418 men, 378 women and eight graduate students in its 1941-1942 registration. Not only the total enrollment, but the freshman class is the largest in the history of the college, while the number of graduate registrants equals that of last year.

In spite of the demand for men in military service and national defense, the college welcomed the greatest number of men ever to enter one class when 146 freshmen registered. The Women's College of Middlebury also shattered records with the largest freshman class it has ever known. From over four hundred who were considered for entrance, 122 newcomers started their college life during the past week.

This year the undergraduate list numbers eleven more students than ever before registered in Middlebury. Enrollment of last year, the greatest to that time, included 42[illegible] men, 356 women, totaling a high of 785 undergraduates in addition to eight graduate students.

New York state again headed the list of residence of new students. Freshman men represent fourteen different states and two countries. One man has enrolled from Iran and another from Hawaii, still another states that he attended two years of high school in Hawaii. Several freshman women have come to Middlebury from Canada. After New York, the most popular states for the women of the class of '45 are New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Vermont; the women also represent fourteen states. The men come from New York state, Massachsetts, Vermont and Connecticut in the most number.

Five men transferred to Middlebury, while eleven women have come here from other colleges. Enrollment by classes is as follows: Seniors, 65 men and 70 women; juniors, 92 men and 84 women; sophomores, 115 men and 102 women; freshmen, 146 men and 122 women. Of the eight graduate scholars, five are men and three women.

In the last fifty years the college on the hill has shown an increase of over 1100%.

"DIRECTIONS" WILL SEE FEW CHANGES

"Directions," the literary magazine of the college, will carry out the same plans as last year and the same format will be employed. Dr. Douglas S. Beers and Prof. Richard L. Brown are the present faculty editors and it is thought that a member of the American Literature department will be added to the staff.

The magazine will be open for contributions from all students. These contributions may be in the form of either prose or poetry. There will be three issues a year for the price of $.50 and a fourth issue, if financial conditions permit.

Wood '42 New Head Of Council

Changes in Men's Rushing Approved Monday At Meeting

SMOKER PROGRAM STARTS OCTOBER 8

In the first meeting under its new president, A. Wilson Wood '42, who replaces David W. Emmons of the U. S. Army, the Interfraternity council last Monday night approved of some minor changes in the rushing rules, set dates for the fraternity smokers and changed the length of the smokers.

Smokers will be held on October 8, 22, November 5 and November 19 and will last from 7:00 to 8:30 and from 8:30 to 10:00.

The rules as approved by the council follow with changes in bold face. The council hopes that the freshmen and upperclassmen will be better acquainted with the rules than has sometimes been the case in the past.

Part I

The Interfraternity council, with a view to fostering more normal relationships between first year men and fraternity men, does hereby declare that there shall be free and unrestrained relations between first year and fraternity men until the period of rest to be designed at in the following rules. This normal relationship shall apply to all aspects of college life except for the following restrictions.

1. No fraternity shall admit to or entertain in its house any first year man from a period three days before the opening of freshman week and until after the formal rushing season except as provided by the Interfraternity council.

2. Up to the formal rushing season no first year man shall agree to join a fraternity by giving his word, handshake, or any other procedure. A fraternity may not offer an informal bid nor discuss fraternity history, finances or the joining of a house in any way other than as provided by the Interfraternity council up to the formal rushing season.

3. There shall be a period of free and unrestrained relationships with the above exceptions noted between fraternity men and first year men from the opening of school until the period of rest.

Part II

1. Period of rest shall be defined as that period when all conversation on fraternity matters and all visitations between fraternity and first year men shall cease, and it shall extend from mid-night the Sunday preceding the formal rushing period to the Thursday of formal rushing, the first Thursday in December. (This year Dec. 4).

2. The active rushing season shall be known as that period extending from the opening of college to the period of rest. The formal rushing season shall begin on the first Thursday in December and shall extend through the following Friday. Saturday shall be pledge day.

3. The formal rushing season shall be divided as follows: Thursday, 6:30 to 7:30, first evening date; 7:30 to 8:30, second evening date; 8:30 to 9:30, third evening date; 9:30 to 10:30, fourth evening date. Friday shall be divided into like periods.

4. Fraternity visitations, whereby freshmen may be entertained in fraternity houses, shall be established and apportioned by the Interfraternity council with unanimous vote at a meeting held early in the fall semester.

5. Formal bids shall be left in the college bookstore by the individual fraternities before 8:30 a. m. Saturday, which is the last day of rushing season, for the first year men, and may be accepted by them any time after Chapel that morning.

6. The Interfraternity council shall decide upon the apportionment and order of dates and shall conduct the transmission of invitations for the ac-

VOL. XXXIX SEPTEMBER 24, 1941 No. 1

In Charge Of Issue, L. Amanda Sanborne '43

SEPTEMBER 1941

Most college editors have come to the conclusion by this week that there is very little to be said about the present "situation" and its relation to the colleges that hasn't already been taken care of by opening addresses, advice to entering classes and campus comment. The CAMPUS has but one observation to make in this respect. Things have happened since last year at this time that a few anticipated, some feared, but by now all seem to have accepted.

The American colleges were one of the last social groups in the nation to accept the final inevitability of the fact that the world isn't big enough to hold two vastly different ways of life. They thought and considered. Like all others, they selfishly weighed all proposed courses. They took no long chances in their commitments. They were cautious in what they allowed themselves to believe. They carefully listened to arguments on all sides and most of them were proudly conscious of not rushing after the more loudly voiced sentiments. The average undergraduate reserved judgement in a policy of watchful waiting.

But now all that is by the board. Most of us, by now, know what to expect and know why we are expecting it. It isn't that we have given up hope, but rather that we have tempered the hoping with a little resignation. The issue is no longer vague. And with that in mind the CAMPUS enters upon the year 1941-42. It is our hope that the entire undergraduate body will look upon their college paper as not only a real source of news but also as the proper place in which to reflect all the diverse opinions of a college society.

A few years ago these editorial columns carried a bitter denunciation of the Blue Key society as an organization that lacked not only the caliber of membership but the quantity of functions to justify its existence. At the time Blue Key accepted the challenge and survived. In our opinion, Blue Key again has a real opportunity to prove its worth.

We have seen the class of 1945 for only one week now. No one can tell now what the future holds for this group as a whole. But this we feel sure of—there are men in the class of 1945 who probably even now are getting off to the wrong start, either because living in a college society is something they know little about or because their impression of what college life should be was all wrong from the start. As the weeks go by the complete misfits in the freshman class will become more and more apparent—the fellow whose inferiority complex was bad enough in the first place and by the careful nuturing of dormitory life it finally gets him to the point of asking "what the hell am I doing here anyway?"

It is at this point that the CAMPUS would like to ask a question. What group or organization among the undergraduate body has ever taken this responsibility? Has any undergraduate group ever gone out of its way to encourage or help or seriously advise this small section of every class which is let to go its own way until it reaches that point at which it feels that it must represent the square peg in the round hole and doesn't know why? It looks to us as though it is up to the Blue Key to make an honest effort to see to it that this entering class has less of that unnamed element that isn't truly representative of Middlebury.

STANLIS TO SPEAK ON EARLY POETRY

"Roots of Modern American Poetry", a lecture, will be presented on September 26, at 8:00 p. m. in the Abernethy room, by Peter J. Stanlis '42.

As president of the college Literary club, Mr. Stanlis has previously spoken at the college on literary topics. His subject this time will be of special interest to majors in American or English literature.

Beginning with the earliest significant figure, Edgar Allan Poe, the speaker will trace the contributions of the chief men and movements which have influenced modern writers. Special emphasis will be placed on Poe, the French symbolists, Walt Whitman, the English Decadent poets, and the forces which were in reaction against the Victorian tradition.

Men's Assembly Elections To Be Held Next Month

campus will also hold their elections there at the same time.

Announcement was also made of the names of these men appointed by the elections committee to represent it throughout the election procedure, and to assist the committee in the conduct and supervision of the primary elections and the counting of the ballots. These sub-committees were named as follows: for Gifford, Jack A. Young '43 and Robert M. Halligan '43; for Painter, William L. Hennefrund '42 and Arthur E. Grosvenor '43; for Hillcrest, Anthony W. Wishinski '42 and William Desmond '43; for North Starr, David K. Smith '42 and James G. Clark '43; and for South Starr, Kenneth E. Cosgrove '32 and S. Peter Nitkitas '43. The election procedure will follow the outline drawn up by the Men's Assembly last spring. It consists of three main steps, nominations for primary elections, the elections themselves and finally the election proper.

The first move in electing a representative to the Men's Student Assembly is to have his name placed in nomination for the primary elections. This is done by submitting a written petition to a member of the elections committee, or sub-committee member, on the Friday directly preceding the primary elections. Petitions may also be filed in the Men's Assembly box in Old Chapel. This year, petitions must be submitted between 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. on Friday, October 3. They must be signed by at least three students from the living center which the candidate intends to represent. No student shall sign more than one petition.

The second step comprises the primary elections, at which students shall vote, on a preferential ballot, for twice the number of candidates as there are offices to be filled. This election will be held at 6:30 p. m. on October 5.

The procedure is culminated by the regular elections, when voters elect as many men as there are officers to be filled. A preferential ballot is also used is this election. This voting will take place just one week after the primary elections, Sunday, October 12, also at 6:30 p.m.

Rushing Rules To Be Followed By Fraternities

tive and formal rushing seasons in the manner regulated by customary practice.

7. During the active rushing season each first year man shall accept all invitations from each house offering him any, or shall refuse all. During the formal rushing season each first year man shall accept all invitations from each house offering him any, or refuse all, unless specifically excused by the fraternity involved. Any rushee wishing to break an invitation during the formal rushing period must personally communicate with the rushing chairman of the inviting house, or his delegated authority, and receive permission to break the invitation. Breaking this rule shall be the same as breaking a pledge, and the rule governing broken pledges shall be enforced.

8. At the end of each formal rushing day all comunication between first year men and fraternity men shall cease until 6:15 p. m. the following day.

9. No fraternity men shall ask, and no fraternity shall receive a split date on a first year man from another fraternity.

10. No fraternity shall interfere with any first year man keeping dates assigned by the Interfraternity council, nor shall any fraternity admit to or entertain in its house any first year man who is assigned by the Council to a date with another fraternity, except as allowed in rule 7.

11. Each fraternity is allowed to maintain a delegation of fifteen men. Members entering college or members or pledges returning before the expiration of two registration periods shall be included in the class quota. Pledges and members returning after at least one year shall have no class standing.

12. No fraternity shall pledge any first year man, who, having been pledged breaks his pledge, until the following fall.

13. By pledge is meant the acceptance of a formal invitation from a fraternity. All formal invitations signed in the affirmative must be in the hands of the Interfraternity council president within five days after pledging, or the man will not be considered as pledged. The names of any man or men breaking their pledges must be submitted to the secretary of the Interfraternity council at once by the secretary of the fraternity involved. A list of such names shall be kept on file with the secretary of the Council.

14. Each fraternity shall be bonded for three hundred dollars. This bond shall be posted with the president of the Interfraternity council within seven days of the first meeting of the Council following the opening of school.

15. For the violations of rule 11 the bond of three hundred dollars shall be forfeited and a fine of fifty dollars imposed for each additional man over the quota. For violation of each rule the violator will be subject to a forfeiture of one-sixth of the three hundred dollar bond on complaint of more than one fraternity and by a majority vote of the council.

16. There shall be no communication between any fraternity and a first year man or between first year men in different houses. All communications must be made through the rushing chairman or his delegated authority.

Extra-curricular sports on the women's campus began Tuesday with the start of soccer. Hockey practice was started on Wednesday afternoon. Soccer practice will take place every Tuesday and Thursday. Any member of WAA is eligible to participate in these activities.

The WAA cabin will be available for weekends soon. Harriet Tillinghast '42 is in charge of managing the cabin. Food will be furnished by Miss Dutton and the students are expected to pay one half of the cost of transportation which may be arranged through Miss Rosevear of the physical education department or Lois R. Grandy '42, president of WAA.

A membership drive will begin soon. The membership fee is $.75.

There will be a council meeting of WAA next week.

OPINIONS OF THE WEEK

Why did you come to Middlebury?

I came to Middlebury because I wanted to go to a liberal arts college. Also I liked the size and location of Middlebury. The opportunities offered for winter sports appealed to me. But what I like best is Chapel every day and freezing to death in the winter.

Dolly Elizabeth Greene '43

During many and varied experiences people have come to believe that it would be better to achieve a background of the subject to be majored in rather than an intensive four years course. This was my idea too, and I entered Middlebury. My aim is to obtain as broad a knowledge of languages as possible with the aid of subjects like music, history and geography. Then too, I liked New England and the size of the college. Since it fulfilled all my hopes and desires both socially and educationally I chose Middlebury.

Jean Bender '43

You can get an education, even though it may not be as satisfactory in many colleges, but Middlebury seemed an ideal place to want to be your best.

Marilyn Kaust '43

I chose Middlebury for several reasons. First of all I liked the location—New England. Second I'd rather go to a small school than a large one. Third—the scholastic rating of schools in the North is generally higher than elsewhere. Fourth, I want to become a writer, and Middlebury's language course excels those of many other schools. Another reason is that I want to learn to ski.

Dorothy Laux '43

I came to Middlebury because the college offers not only a superb course in foreign languages but also a chance for every student to be an integral part of a well balanced campus life.

Theodore Paskins '43

I came to Midd because of the people whom I have already known from here. The location is great and since I plan to do post graduate work in a large engineering school, I thought it would be wise that I should start at a small liberal arts school. For here one has a chance to learn more than just certain things in text books and I like snow. Let's have an early storm!

A. William Codder '43

I came to Middlebury because I feel that one should get a taste not only of a technical education, but also of a liberal arts education, and Midd in my mind seems the best in liberal arts to prepare one for the present changing world.

Frank Giffard '43

Up until four years ago, I hadn't any particular aim in life. One of my instructors told me at that time that it would be a fine idea if I started thinking about it. I took his advice and took stock, so to speak, of my particular interests and found that a course in the languages would be the most interesting and beneficial one.

During the past four years that I have been preparing for this, I have been contacting various colleges throughout the country to find out which one had the most to offer in my particular field. Among these was Middlebury College and I came to the conclusion that this college had as much to offer as any other college. So, with the help of the finest parents any fellow ever had, I came to Middlebury College.

ASP Moves From South Street to Huntley House

Middlebury's Alpha Delta chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi moved the week before the opening of college from the Eddy property at 1 South Street to a new location, which has been known as the Huntley house, at 117 South Main Street.

The new house had been vacant since the moving of the women's infirmary from that address last year. Repairs were started at the new location this week. The house will be painted, a new furnace will be installed, and other interior repairs will be made.

One of the advantages of the new house over the old is that two more members can room at the fraternity. Then too, the present house is nearer campus.

Women Present Humorous Side Of College Life

Middlebury Through the Seasons was the theme of the program for Midd Night as held by the Women's College on Saturday night. Virginia I. Wynn '43, vice-president of Student Union, was in charge of the affair.

Following a short welcome and introduction made by Miss Wynn, the sophomore class presented its skit. This showed the events and their background for the school year from September to Christmas vacation. Homecoming and the Soph Hop were two of the highlights. Edith D. Johansen '44 read the script for this part of the entertainment.

The juniors depicted the happenings at Midd from January until spring vacation, with special attention paid to mid-years, carnival, and fraternity informals. Doris E. Wolff '43 read the imaginary diary which described the events.

Junior Week and spring formals were among the occasions shown by the senior class in its skit. This took place on the calendar from spring vacation until the close of school. It ended with a presentation of the Senior Week cane ceremony and the singing of "It's a Time Honored Custom." The entire college then joined in singing "Gamaliel Painter's Cane." Louise F. Henofer '42 read the description which accompanied the skit.

An innovation occurred at the end of this part of the program when the freshmen took part in the entertainment. They sang two songs written by members of the class.

The film of technicolor movies of the Women's College belonging to the Alumni office was then shown. In the absence of Mrs. Reginald L. Cook, Alumni secretary, Miss Mary A. Williams, director of Admisions for Women, described the scenes as they were seen on the screen. After the movies, ice cream was served.

Between the skits Mary L. Eimer '42 led the group in singing college songs. Beth M. Warner '43 was at the piano.

French Club Bacon Bat To Be Held Tomorrow

According to an announcement by Marion E. Anderson '42, president, the annual Bacon Bat of the French club will be held on Thursday, September 25 at 5 p. m.

The event is to take place on Chipman hill.

Anyone may attend. Those planning to attend are asked to sign up on the Chateau bulletin board. French songs will be sung after the meal.

The first regular meeting of the French club will be held in the last week of October.

Varied Summer Experiences Shown As Undergraduates Return To Town

By Robert W. Kellogg '44

Last week hundreds of people converged on sleepy little Middlebury. With the onrush Middlebury grunted, twitched uneasily, finally gave a snort and opened its eyes to new and old faces. Last week Middlebury became once more alive.

They came from all sides—did these people, and in all maner of conveyances. Private automobiles brought perhaps the greatest share, but the puffy, blustery Rutland huffed in with a goodly number. The bus and thumb had their ration also.

Jack Young '43 for instance spent the summer among a people actively moving their pawns in the wily game of war. Young spent some two months in Canada and saw intimately the war effort being made up there in his capacity as a guide in a mountain resort.

South and West

At the other extreme was Charles L. Sanford, '42 last year's Kaleidoscope editor. Sanford saw a goodly bit of the Southwest, roamed the reaches of Arkansas and even touched the edges of Texas. But going Sanford one better was John VanKirk '43 who managed to get way down to Mexico City. Our representative out on the coast was Clarence Huxley '44. Huxley journeyed form Manhasset, Long Island to California and thence back to Vermont.

Looking into the military field we find Tom MacDonald '43, Jack Lundrigan '43, Steve Wilson '43, and Bing Byington '43. These fellows served with the U. S. marines over vacation.

Road Service

Not everyone, however, was so fortunate as to idle away the whole of the summer. Recall those accurately planned trip maps furnished you by Standard Oil of New Jersey when you wrote them requesting road information? It's an even bet that Irving Senne '42 authored a good share of them. Senne obtained a position with Standard Oil in June and spent the summer planning just such trips.

And then there is George Hartz '44. Hartz may have been on of those fellows you noticed in a recent Life magazine when they photographed the picking of tobacco in the fields down in Connecticut. He helped in the harvest in one of the larger fields of the Connecticut valley.

Think that there is apt to be a shortage of wheat this fall? Ask Louis Menand '44. Menand drove out to St. Thomas, North Dakota from Albany, New York this past summer and worked several months in the harvesting of the wheat.

Back to New England where Raymond Hodge '43 helped direct the fortunes of one of a string of some eighteen gasoline stations. Then there is Peter Jennison '44 who contributed to the St. Albans newspaper all summer. Perhaps the largest group of Middlebury people were concentrated at the Bread Loaf School of English.

Painting Exhibit Will Be Shown Until October 6

From the Muesum of Modern Art in New York comes the current exhibition of paintings in Forest recreation hall which will be on display until October 6. The exhibition is composed of four paintings from the permanent collection of the museum, and twenty-six from the best work produced by the WPA art program during the past five years.

These pictures, which were chosen by the museum from several thousand sent to Washington from all over the country, have been lent for this and other circulating exhibits. The pictures in the collection which belong to the museum are: "City Buildings," by Gustaf Dalstrom, "Florida Symphony," by Adolf Dehn, Rainey Bennett's "Farm Fields," and "Portuguese Dock, Gloucester," by de Hirsch Margules.

Others among this representative group of contemporary painters, the youngest of whom is twenty-five and the oldest forty-nine, include: Aaron Bohrod, Cameron Booth, Raymond Breinin, Stuart Edie, Karl Knaths, Joseph de Martini, and Mitchell Siporin, all of whom have works hung in various other prominent American institutions, such as the Art institute of Chicago, Pennsylvania academy of fine arts, and the Whitney museum of American art.

The second of ten loan exhibitions from the Museum of Modern Art will be hung in Forest recreation room from September 25 to October 9, and will include pictures under the general classification of "Emotional design in modern painting."

Dr. C. R. Brown of Yale Will Speak This Sunday

Dean Charles R. Brown of the Yale Divinity school will address the student body at the Vespers service in Mead Memorial chapel on Sunday, September 28.

A yearly guest speaker in Middlebury for many years, Dean Brown received degrees from Bristol university and the Baptist college. He also has edited several religious publications.

PARKER, GILLETTE WEDDINGS DURING SUMMER MONTHS

Miss Jane W. Kingsley, daughter of Mrs. Julius K. Kingsley and the late Professor Kingsley and Wyman W. Parker, Middlebury college librarian were married August 22 at noon in Gifford hall. Pres. Paul D. Moody performed the ceremony.

Miss Barbara B. Kitson and Edwin F. Gillette of Branford, Connecticut, were also married August 23 at 4:00 p. m. at the bride's home in Pittsford.

Mrs. Parker graduated from Middlebury in 1938, after which she taught French and English at New Paltz, N. Y. high school. She was awarded a Master of Arts degree in English at the Bread Loaf school of English this summer.

Mr. Parker has been a librarian at Middlebury for four years. He graduated from Rutherford, N. J. high school and attended Norwich university two years before transferring to Middlebury. He is a member of the class of '34.

The following June Mr. Parker was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree in library service at Columbia. After working in the reference division of the New York Public library a year, he spent another year in Europe. He received a Master of Arts degree in English at Bread Loaf in 1939. Mr. and Mrs. Parker are now living at the Gregory apartments.

Mrs. Gillette has been a teacher of piano and a church organist and for the past three years an assistant in the department of music at Middlebury.

New Students Are Shown Middlebury

Lectures and Outings Are Part of Freshman Week Program for Class of '45

Glimpsing the Middlebury campus before being hurled into the confusion of classes and schedules, Freshman Week again introduced many of the customs and traditions of the college to the class of 1945.

An assembly in Mead Chapel at 8:00 o'clock Sunday evening was the first gathering of the class. President Paul D. Moody presided at the meeting and Dr. Elbert C. Cole '15 of Williams college spoke, giving a concise history of the college and also a brief history of the geological beginnings of the world and the formation of Vermont's hills and mountains.

Faculty Advisors

On Monday, psychological and reading tests were given in Munroe hall during the morning, while the afternoon hours were taken up by achievement tests. Monday night there were informal receptions which provided the freshmen with an opportunity to meet their faculty advisors in small groups.

Registration Tuesday morning at nine was followed by a class get-acquainted outing in the afternoon on the Women's Athletic field. Mountain club members, who were directing the outing, sent the freshmen out on a scavanger hunt, led them in games and singing, and finally served a picnic supper.

The busy day finally ended with receptions given by President and Mrs. Moody at their home for freshmen and transfer women. The class was divided into two groups, each attending at a different hour.

"How To Study"

Wednesday activities were opened with a "How to Study" lecture at 9:00 a.m. at the Playhouse. Dr. C. Gilbert Wrenn of the University of Minnesota was the lecturer.

Opening exercises and the address by President Moody Thursday at 9:30 in Mead Chapel was the only morning event for that day. One-thirty in the afternoon found the freshmen women at an introductory meeting of the Student Union, including an informal talk by Dean Eleanor S. Ross. A tea sponsored by Student Union to acquaint the freshmen with the various extra-curricular activities on campus followed this meeting. Program cards were distributed that evening after dinner.

For School—Parker's
SUPER-CHARGED Pen
—More Room for Ink because NO rubber sac, hence a Pen that won't run dry in lectures, tests, exams!

◆ GUARANTEED by LIFE CONTRACT

Toting books around won't get a student anywhere if his pen runs dry in the classroom. So look before you leap to some problem pen. It will only frustrate your I. Q. on Test-day.

In college after college, coast to coast, the Parker Vacumatic is voted No. 1 by students because of these modern features:

1. Super-charged—with ink to carry over.
2. One-Hand Sacless Filler—easiest to operate.
3. Television Barrel—shows when to refill.
4. Lubricated Writing—Non-brittle, 14 K Gold Point tipped with oil-smooth Osmiridium that won't wear scratchy in a lifetime.
5. Exclusive Style—streamlined, Pearl and Jet RINGS.

Go and try it today at any nearby pen counter. But use discretion by looking for Parker's Blue Diamond on the smart ARROW clip. That's our Life Guarantee Contract.

EDUCATION NEWS—

Glancing over the news flashes from the other schools, we come to the subject of legs. Legs, that is, with or without silk stockings. Port Arthur college, deep in Texas, is permitting co-eds to attend classes bare-legged for the first time since 1909. The school was opened in 1909, in case a question arose in your mind. At the University of Minnesota, the co-eds not only went all-out for defense as did Port Arthur, but they conjured up an alliterative slogan. "Shed Silk for Uncle Sam." is what they call what they are doing. SSUSC is doing much of the same, but with a determination that borders on the grim. Nine of the co-eds call themselves "charter martyrs," and claim the purpose of their little organization is "to get along with bare legs and, if necessary, go barefooted in the interests of defense."

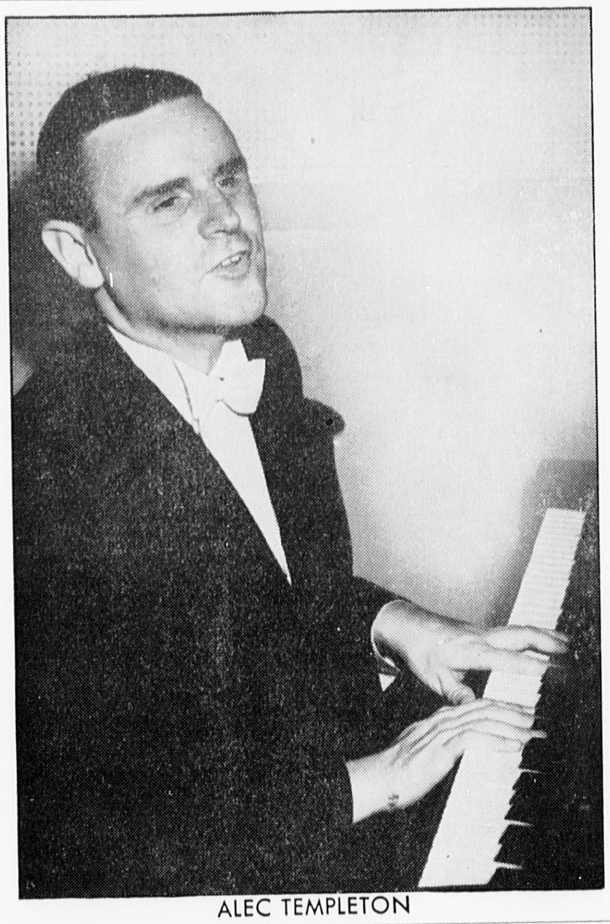
******

GIVING 'TIL IT HURTS—

The other grapevine news wire brings us word that there will soon be a tinfoil campaign under way.

Now, being in a very investigatory mood this afternoon, we determined to find out how much a week's saving of tinfoil would yield on the hill. Middlebury students burn up approximately 24 cartons of cigarettes a day. The tinfoil from a pack of cigarettes weighs according to a local apothocary, 18 grains. By some rapid calculation we arrived at the no-doubt questionable conclusion that a week's saving would yield approximately 4 and three tenths pounds. If the student body consumed a thousand chocolate bars a week, the total might be over 5 pounds. Ah, well, start eating chocolate bars and we'll win this war yet.

We admit the picture we have presented is a little false, and we don't want to throw water on a project that is still in the formative stages; but we still think that college students can contribute something a little more valuable to national defense than tinfoil.



ALEC TEMPLETON

ALEX TEMPLETON WILL BE PRESENTED FIRST IN NEW ENTERTAINMENT SERIES

Alec Templeton, modern genius of the entertainment world, will supply the first program of the entertainment course this year according to the entertainment course committee chairman, Prof. H. Ward Bedford. Mr. Templeton will appear in the high school gymnasium on Monday evening, October 6, at 8:15 p.m. His program will consist of humor and piano music which he has combined so successfully.

The committee in charge, composed of Professor Bedford, Miss Rose Martin, Prof. Alfred M. Dame, and Prof. Rex N. Webster, has also announced the rest of the entertainment course in addition to Mr. Templeton's appearance.

Earl Spicer, baritone, is to sing old English and American ballads in Mead chapel on October 21. Mr. Spicer is from Nova Scotia and has achieved fame as a ballad singer because of the humor he injects into his programs.

December 5 the Siberian Singers, ten Victor recording artists, directed by Nicholas Vasilieff, will sing old Russian music and folk songs on their program in the high school gym.

Cornelis Otis Skinner will entertain with some of her famous character sketches in Mead chapel on March 12, 1942. This is the first appearance of this nationally known author and lecturer in Middlebury.

Alan Carter will conduct the Vermont State Symphony orchestra in a concert at the high school gym on April 22, 1942 as the final program presented by the committee.

Thirty Men From Last Year's Class Are Now With United States Service

MEN'S MIDD NIGHT FEATURES SINGING, INFORMAL TALKS

Middlebury's annual Midd-Night, held for the entire men's college, was presented to the class of '45 last Thursday evening at McCullough gymnasium.

Presiding at the evening's entertainment was William A. Wood '42, who introduced most of the speakers. Pres. Paul D. Moody introduced Walter J. "Duke" Nelson '32, and now coach at Renssalear Polytechnic institute, who was the guest speaker of the evening.

Opening the program, the band played, while the undergraduates sang "The Old Midd Spirit." Then followed a series of introductions of outstanding personalities on campus. Dr. Enis B. Womack spoke on behalf of the faculty; Dwight F. Smith, '42 for publications; Coach Benjamin H. Beck for varsity football; David K. Smith '42 for the Mountain Club; Richard C. Davis '42, for organizations; Stanwood F. Johnson '42, for the Undergraduate association; Coach Arthur M. Brown, for Department of Athletics; Coach Samuel J. Guarnaccia, for freshman football. The captains of sports were also introduced.

President Moody, in introducing "Duke" Nelson, paid high respect to the guest speaker, speaking both of his record as an undergraduate here and also of his record since he left college. Mr. Nelson admonished the freshmen to give the best they had to offer while here, in all activities. He closed by remarking that students of Middlebury should always remember they are as one big family . . . "as far as I'm concerned, the best family on the whole universe."

Cider and doughnuts were served throughout the evening. S. Peter Nikitas '43 was assistant chairman.

First appearance of a reorganized band was made at the annual smoker last week. Accompanying the singing, the band, led by Robert W. Kellogg '43, opened its season.

Several Become Draftees; Others Are Enlisted In Air Corps

According to latest reports, thirty of last year's senior class are at present in some branch of the armed service, either from the draft or enlistment. The following addresses are necessarily only temporary, and indicate a slight majority of men in the air service.

Dan B. Armstrong '41, John W. Malm '41, and John Talbott '41 are with the 45th Bombardment group at the Manchester, N. H., air base; George A. Berry '41, William Ferguson '41, Nicholas R. Krauszer '41, and Raymond G. Morrow '41, are all draftees, address unknown. James H. Cassedy '41 and David W. Emmons '42 are both at Fort Lee, Virginia; Samuel J. Bertuzzi '41, Donald E. Chapman '41, Robert L. De Veer '41, James A. Turley '41, Vernon M. Wright '41, Philip A. Wisell '42 and Kenneth R. Aldrich '43 are training at the Squantum naval air base.

Also in the navy air force at Jacksonville, Florida, are Sumner House '41, Robert L. Johnson '41, and John C. Trask '41, while the army air force holds Lawrence R. Mahar '41 and John M. Nugent '41 at Westover field, Massachusetts, John C. Johnson '41 at Windsor Locks, Connecticut, Albert Van Buren '41 at Cochran field, Macon, Georgia, and John H. Hicks '41 at Bangor, Maine.

As far as can be determined, other men in the service are located at the following camps. Howard L. Hasbrouck '41 at Camp Croft, John F. Hogan '41 at Ft. Bragg, S. C. Roger M. Griffith '41 and John W. Holt '41, Ft. Devens, Mass., Aaron Sweet '41 in the chemical warfare division in Panama, and Sidney H. Thomas '41 in the medical corps, Fort Slocum, Panama. In addition to these, John B. Franklin '42 is an ensign in the navy, Malcolm S. Collins '44 is at Annapolis, George Wallace and Frederick B. Walker '44 are in the army.

Old Chapel Renovations Provide New Offices For Administration

Improvements and renovations proceeded apace this summer, and the venerable Old Chapel building houses a good many of them. With the moving of the offices of the treasurer and of the business manager from Battell Block up to the campus, the long-needed integration of college administrative offices is just about complete.

Business Manager J. J. Fritz and his staff are established on the ground floor, in the suite of offices at the back of the building. Most students have been reminded by this time that the treasurer's office is now on the right as one enters the building on the same floor. Just across the hall is located the spacious office of the Registrar, with which all properly enrolled students are now familiar. New furnishings, freshly laid linoleum floors, and a new drinking fountain on this floor, all add up to make the place almost unrecognizeable as our familiar Old Chapel.

Deans' Offices

Students encountering scholastic setbacks or disciplinary difficulties during the year, will find solutions worked out for them on the second floor: Dean of Women—straight ahead; Dean of Men—Room 21, the east corner. Also on that floor, the Alumnae Secretary, and the Director of Admissions and Personnel for both men and women hold forth.

The higher we go, the higher we go. And we find that the president's office still remains in possession of most of the third floor. Business concerning the summer language schools is also handled through this office. Across the way, on the same floor, is a trustees' meeting room. Only the old C. C. room, which holds memories for all of us but the freshmen, remains bare and vacant. The Bookstore was located there during the summer, but according to Mr. Fritz, there are no plans whatsoever for its renovation.

New Secretary

Prof. Harry G. Owen, chief Bread Loafer, can still be found in his fourth floor office. Here, we find a newcomer to Middlebury's secretarial staff. Mrs. Homer Dewey, Professor Owen's secretary, has filled the vacancy created when Miss Prucia Lanen left Middlebury after her marriage this summer. Also on the fourth floor are to be found the offices of Prof. Werner Neuse, Prof. Juan A. Centeno, and Prof. William F. Madden.

With so many new changes in office location, freshmen need no longer feel self-conscious about where to go. They're new to the upper-classmen too.

President Speaker For First Vespers

Wheels Used as Symbols In Initial Sunday Chapel Address of New Term

Using "Wheels" as the theme of his talk, Pres. Paul D. Moody addressed the student body last Sunday in the first Vespers sermon of the year.

The part wheels play in industry, in motion, in the world today is unascertainable. Their origin is unknown, he said, although it probably became known as did roast pig according to Charles Lamb. A Chinaman tasted by mistake a burnt pig in the ruins of a house. Through the trial and error method, roast pork became a popular dish.

In 605 a philosopher remarked that "the most significant thing about the wheel is the part that isn't there." The wheel is most complete when incomplete and most incomplete when complete. This, stated President Moody, is most important, for the same is true of man.

If a man is full, and cannot receive anything more, if he is self-centered and self-satisfied, he has nothing.

As examples, the speaker set forth Louis Pasteur as a man who still had a space left him for more. His opposers who were full and could learn no more, are now forgotten.

Others are St. Paul who became Christ-centered instead of self-centered, and Sir Wilfred Grenfell who took Labrador as his center.

Without a hole in the wheel and without something from the outside attached to the center of that wheel, it is useless.

"Are you smug and self-centered?" challenged President Moody. "Is the center of your wheel connected with something outside? What is the axis of your life wheel?"

BLUE KEY TO ARRANGE INFORMAL GYM DANCE SATURDAY, OCTOBER 18

The Blue Key honorary society of Middlebury is going ahead with plans for their annual fall dance which is to be held in the gymnasium on October 18th, the evening of the second home football game.

It is probable that music for this dance will be provided by the Black Panthers and as is usual at such functions the class of '45 will be cordially "invited" to attend.

M. Scott Eakeley '43 was elected to the position of secretary-treasurer of the society last spring and outside of this there have been no changes in the society, last year's count of nineteen members being the same.

Other functions of the Blue Key during the first semester will be mainly, the insurance that the new class of freshmen will observe the rules prescribed for them in the college regulations as well as the usual traditions and customs that have been derived from the background and history of Middlebury College.

Committee Is Chosen To Plan Abernethy Readings

For some years it has been the custom at Middlebury College to present a series of literary readings or lectures that are held in the Abernethy room of the library.

This year a committee of three has been chosen to discuss speakers. The members of this committee are; Viola M. Guthrie, chairman, '42, Peter J. Stanlis '42 and Dorothy E. Forsythe '43.

Six faculty members have been chosen to present these readings. The names of these people will be announced when definite dates for the readings have been set.

SENIORS SERENADE FRESHMEN WOMEN

A new custom was added to the many traditions of the Women's college last Sunday night, when the class of '42 greeted the class of '45 with a serenade of welcome.

The seniors, under the direction of Mary L. Eimer '42, visited five dormitories, including Forest hall, Pearsons hall, Battell cottage, Hepburn hall, and lastly the Jewett-Wilcox house. At each place the group sang "Hello There," "Where The Otter Winds The Willow," and a third appropriate college song, which was varied in each case.

MIKE TALK By HALLIGAN

'Tother day we interrupted what was a closed practice, and right now I'll warn you that this is not an advisable practice. Not only is it not good manners—but somehow it does not meet with approval on the part of the powers that be. However it was agreed that no news concerning results of any sort should appear on this page—but somehow I just couldn't resist the following—I hope you don't get sore "Joe."

You know how the pop tune "My Sister and I" goes—well here's another version of the same:

My classmates and I remember still,
The shock of watching the bleachers fill
With alumni, and strangers, and come what will—
BUT WE CAN'T TALK ABOUT THAT.

My classmates and I recall once more—
Tossed on our ears out the exit door
(And some, I'm afraid, got a trifle sore)
BUT WE CAN'T TALK ABOUT THAT.

We're learning to forget the plays
That come from a troubled brain,
But sometimes (through this column) we complain.

My classmates and I recall the day,
That we went down to see our college play,
But there at the gate we were turned away—
BUT WE CAN'T TALK ABOUT THAT.

"Something new has been added" is the advertising slogan for a popular brand of cigarettes, but if the company doesn't mind too much I would like to adopt it to describe conditions up here at Middlebury this year

Of course we all know that there are a lot of new faces on campus—and some of them VERY nice, too, Joe—but they're the Freshmen so they don't matter too much. More important to many minds is the new floor on Handball court No. 2, or the commencement of work on the new board track—the new uniforms which will grace the bodies of a new edition of Middlebury football, and the further improvements which have been made in the line of athletic equipment.

All of which brings us closer to home—for to us the best, and most important of all the new items on campus is the new spirit. Honest Injun, this is the first time in four years that we've felt and seen such spirit in Middlebury.

Many have been inclined to mark it down to the new era of friendship introduced by both campuses (and a very good idea that is, Joe) but one can't help but know it's more than that— it's something you can not only feel, but actually see and hear.

Real Support

We saw it the first day we arrived—we saw Tony and John walking around the campus together. Of course it's nothing for the two of them to be seen together—but it adds a whole lot to the football picture. It gives one the idea that two very strong forces have joined in a common cause and that's just what has happened.

No kidding Joe, starting right with those boys who have really been working hard out there on the football field—to the lowliest Frosh on campus (and Joe, that's pretty low) everyone knows this is going to be a good year. We won't win them all—we don't expect to—but we aren't looking backwards (Lord forbid it)—we're looking ahead.

Training really means something this year. The boys on the team are doing a wonderful job—they're proud of it and they have a right to be. When they step out on the field of a Saturday afternoon they're going to be a team with plenty of fight, drive and determination—and what's more, they're going to be a smart football club which is not going to go to pieces in the last part of the game.

You know why they're not Joe? Because they're going to have a stands-full of backers yelling their lungs out giving them every ounce of support they can muster. They're going to have the rootingest bunch of kids behind them they've ever heard. You just wait and see Joe—the roads to Williamstown will be jammed with Blue and White—thumbs will be out in front of M sweaters and white buttoned blue caps. Carloads of more fortunates will invade that northwestern Massachusetts town to give the 1941 eleven the send-off it deserves.

Final Tune-Up

These days there seems to be no more enjoyable place to spend an afternoon than down at Porter Field watching the final tune-ups for the Williams contest. Shouting encouragement to each other, a snap-back, the rush of the two lines, the quick charge of the backs, the smack of the tackle, the sharp whistle, the hustle back to a new huddle, a new play, the sight of the ball soaring through the blue sky or else the shoulder to shoulder rush against the blocking pad, the grunt and drive against the tackling dummy, the barking of the signal caller, a cry of "Hey Rubin, here we come again", answered by "Gwan -sen' them through me just once more-send it through me Prukie!" the breathless jog back to the gym with Tony trotting along, backslapping one, kidding another, racing a third—gosh Joe, it's a swell game, and they're a swell bunch of guys and we're all behind them.

While the popular cries of the day are "Keep 'Em Flying" and "Let's Go America", we'll be satisfied with a "LET'S GO MIDDLEBURY."

P. S. By the way Joe, if you happen to see some of the Midd kids speeding around in a very smooth looking station wagon—do not write to Mr. Ickes. If you will take close notice, you will see Middlebury Ski Team written there-upon, and they mean what they say.

Guess it sounds kinda funny, what with all this football talk—but Captain Ira Townsend and his co-horts have already started training for the new season. Up to the mountains for cross country and fixing up the ski trails, accompanied by a heartening number of newcomers, they certainly exemplify the new spirit about which I have been talking.

Department Of Athletics Buys Outdoor Track

In a move allied with the series of changes and improvements going on in other divisions, the Middlebury College athletic department has made several additions and renovations in its equipment. Arthur M. Brown, director of athletics for the College, recently interviewed, disclosed a number of things decided upon over the summer months which will be enacted this fall.

Long Needed Improvement

Of these, the proposed new board track is perhaps the most important. Long a source of dissatisfaction, the present track has in recent years been a hackneyed piece of vital equipment. According to Coach Brown, contracts have already been let, and work started on the tearing out of the present track, with a view of having the new one ready for use by November 1. Brown pointed out that every effort woul be made to achieve this because the relay team plans to open practice on or about that time.

Different Construction

Plans for the new track call for a somewhat different construction than that of the present one. Laid upon a foundation of cement piers supporting a network of uprights of varying length, the track as it is now constructed has too much spring—does not lend itself to solidity. The new design would eliminate this by filling in the whole area, then laying the supports directly upon this fill. The floorboards could then be placed over the horizontal supports doing away with the need for the uprights and ensuring a more solid track.

New Uniforms

Along a somewhat different tack but still in the line of improvement, Brown disclosed that the varsity football squad would receive new uniforms this fall. Coloring will be in the Middlebury tradition; royal blue pants and jerseys with white helmets. He also intimated that the hockey team would appear in entirely new outfits this winter.

Handball Courts

The new flooring upon the further handball court also supports the general trend. Definitely on the positive side of the ledger also is the tennis net which was installed last year. A comparatively new piece of equipment, it enables the tennis team and also the freshmen gym classes to keep up on their game by taking advantage of winter practice. Also in an effort to get around the winter layover, is the double set of golf cages recently installed on the stage of the gymnasium. Set side by side, they enable two men to use them at the same time.

Spirited Panther Eleven Ready For Williams Tilt

Frosh Gridmen Limber Up For Opening Clash

With a squad of fifty men from the freshman class responding to Coach Sammy Guarnaccia's call for candidates for the Frosh football club, the prospects for a better-than-average season seem to be in evidence.

The original turnout of fifty has at this writing been trimmed to thirty-five or forty, a good workable size. Coach Guarnaccia, with commendable reticience, would not comment on the prospects for this season's yearlings, but gave out some information concerning the weight of this year's squad We are forced to draw our own conclusions.

The 1941 Frosh club will feature a rather light backfield, as was the case with last year's team a factor which, eventually proved to be an advantage rather than otherwise. Better news is that this year's team will boast a heavier line than was the case with last year's team.

Aiding Coach Guarnaccia with the backfield work is Johnny Urban, star quarterback and captain of last year's unbeaten combination.

The Baby Panthers are aiming toward their first game, which will be played at Middlebury on Oct. 11. For this, their first trial, the boys will face a frosh club from Union.

Among those reporting were:

Backs—Anthony C. Martel, Richard W. Fales, Robert W. Zaumseil, James Linder, Richard Salisbury, Peter K. McKee, Richard Mace, Donald Gilmore Randall M. Pillsbury, Kenneth Moore, Edward F. Cooke, and Merton H. Stevens.

Guards—Philip H. Vinall, David S. Johnson, Daniel M. Colyer, Clifford R. Hendrix, Ewald vom Orde, Jr., Joseph Fuchs, Jr., Paul Rubner and Murray Spotniz.

Tackles—Arthur V. Bennett, Thomas Caldroney, William N. Margolis and Raymond Tierney, George Jephson, Robert H. Kasper, Jonathan Izant, James Bertschinger, and Walter S. Swift.

Centers—Martin C, Schmidt, Edward E. Hiett, Roy H. Kinsey, Joe M. Webber, Robert T. Cosgrove, Lloyd B. Marshall, Allan E. Robertson, Hugh H. Mathews, and Malcolm H. Smith.

Ends—Robert D. Brown, George B. Morse, Raymond E. Walch, Gordon E. Mathews, Arthur C. Buettner, and William Johnson.

Coach Brown Expects Improved Cross Country Team This Year; Smith And Stanlis Only Veterans

Middlebury cross-country men did not wait for any official announcement this year. When Coach Brown issued his call for varsity runners last week he found that a squad of about eight men had been working out independently for several days. However, the first regular practice on Saturday, brought out about fifteen candidates and the realization that the opening meet of the year against Williams is less than three weeks away.

Veterans Scarce

Coach Brown's observation that this season will produce a team which is "definitely better than last year's" is based on a nucleus of five men, and the fact that last year's team failed to win a meet. Veterans are scarce, and only Captain Dave Smith and Pete Stanlis return as lettermen from last year's squad. Paul Davis and Harold Parker, the best runners of a promising group of last year's freshmen, appear to be of varsity caliber. These two men were consistently the first two to finish for the frosh team last year. Lew Haines is another runner who is developing nicely, and upon whom Coach Brown is depending. Haines, a junior, has done little or no running since his freshman year when he showed up well. The surge of spirit in Middlebury athletics this fall is reflected in the work of these men and the other candidates who are following their lead.

Tough Schedule

The harriers face a tough schedule this year. 1941 opposition includes every team which beat Middlebury decisively last season. There is reason to expect as much improvement on the Williams, R. P. I., and Vermont teams as on our own. However, a glance at the schedule will reveal a strong point in favor of Middlebury. All but one of the dual meets will be run over the home course with which the Middlebury men are familiar.

The Williams squad, which comes to Middlebury for the season-opener, will be paced by two juniors, Fuller and Moore, who helped beat the Panther harriers by a perfect score last year.

The coach will issue a call for freshman harriers sometime this week. Several have been working out regularly, but little is known about actual prospects.

Heavy Backfield Insures Good Offensive For Midd Squad

MIDDMEN WEAK IN RESERVE STRENGTH

The opening game of the 1941 football season will find an untried Panther eleven, dotted with newcomers, facing a well-balanced, powerful Williams squad that is out to retain its hold on the Little Three title.

Closed Scrimmage

A scrimmage, played behind closed gates on Porter field last Saturday afternoon, showed in general that a shifting of positions will be necessary, and it also accomplished its major purpose of giving the men a much needed workout as a whole. The most glaring faults were a tendency to miss assignments, a failure to hold blocks and a lack of that snap and precision which is a necessity to a smooth working team. These defects, however, should be able to be smoothed out with another week of practice and Saturday next should find a Midd eleven ready to take the field with a fairly good chance of more than holding its own against its stronger rival from Williamstown.

The '41 Panther eleven has a particularly good backfield, dominated by the veteran of the 1940 season, Dixie Davis. This position is strengthened by the addition of two stars of last year's frosh team, Hollie Hollister and Eddie Flemming. Davis should by all accounts provide the material for an experienced blocking back that is needed in any complete backfield; whereas Flemming's shifty broken field running, and Hollister's powerful drives and lightning speed should prove to be a very valuable asset to the home side of the ledger.

Lineup Uncertain

No definite predictions can be made at this time as to the line that will face the Purple on the afternoon of the twenty seventh because last Saturday's scrimmage showed that there will have to be a great deal of reshuffling of positions before the finished product can be ready for action. With Co-captain Johnny Prukop and with Co-captain Wishinski leaders at center, however; with Gale, Beecher, Adsit and Harris as possible guards; Zollner, Clapper and Reumann filling up the tackle positions a fairly sturdy inside line should be found. Added to this there is a long list of prospective ends, among these being Cosgrove, Bishop and Pepin, so that the sum total can be added up to amount to a fairly stable and well-balanced appearing line.

Williams Team Balanced

The Purple, on the other hand, has a rather startling array of manpower and it is a certainty that Coach Caldwell's men will be in good form for their opener game.

Although Williams lost a good number of her last year's eleven they have in all probability been more than replaced by a group of sophomores who are with one exception backfield men as well as good linemen and will supply an ample reserve for the first team.

With Herb Holden to spark the backfied performances, Al Hearne and Chug Brothwell as an excellent pair of ends, and the remarkably fleet Hugo Oswald at tackle, the warriors from Williams, on paper at least, seem to present a formidable array of power and balance and a definite threat to a Midd victory.

This year as last, the Panthers are dangerously low in reserves and have to place their main dependence on the team that first goes onto the field. At Williamstown in 1940 the Midd eleven lead the score 6-0 at the end of the first period after a series of powerful plunges had momentarily surprised a much more powerful Williams team. The Ephs came back in the last period, however, to win the game 13-6, leaving the Beckmen greatly weakened through injuries to two of their best men.

Middlebury Choir Members And Chamber Of Commerce Snubbed

Reported By
Mary Clough '42
Bill Hennefrund '42

A fair gathering of Middlebury College students, a portion of the college choir, the Chamber of Commerce, and at least a dozen other local personages were definitely and decidedly snubbed by the Metropolitan Opera company yesterday afternoon.

Sometime yesterday noon, an alert Middlebury Chamber of Commerce received the news that the Metropolitan Opera company, or at least a good part of it, was en route to Montreal via the Green Mountain Flier, and would pass through Middlebury. The news was all too correct.

This information eventually trickled to influential ears and speedy action was taken. In the twinkling of an eye, a part of the college choir was mustered, several crates of rosy, red apples were purchased, flowers were obtained, and a telegram informed the Opera Co. of the honor to be bestowed upon its troupe. The general idea was that the "Flier" was supposed to stop at the Middlebury depot, and the Metropolitan artists traveling therein were to be treated to a tasty dish of college caroling, plus Vermont apples and flowers, plus best wishes from Middlebury.

At 4:15 a goodly group was already assembled at the platform, playing the hunch that the flier might possibly arrive on the scheduled time of 4:32. The hunch was a bad one; the flier was punctually behind scheduled time. The minutes ticked by. A few pointless remarks were made, just to pass the time. Four-forty. Four-forty-five.

At 4:50, the smoke of the Green Mt. flier was sighted before the train hove into view. Everything was in readiness. The choir was waiting for a cue. The apples were waiting to be consumed. The flowers were waiting to be presented, plus the best wishes already spoken of.

"Here she comes!!" yelled a majority of the crowd as the Rutland, proud as ever, came charging into the depot, evidently for a flying stop.

The evidence was wrong. Castagnia never heard the choir. Bodanya never bit into an apple. Gillmore just glanced at the flowers.

The flier, as the saying goes, just came and went.

Vermont Symphony To Open Season in Rutland With Concert Tuesday

Alan Carter, conductor, announces that the first concert of the season presented by the Vermont State Symphony orchestra will be held in the Rutland armory Tuesday evening, September 30.

This concert is planned to inaugurate a fund for the support of the orchestra, which is a non-profit organization. Guests in attendance at the concert will be Dorothy Thompson, noted newspaper columnist, Ralph Flanders, now acting on the National Defense Council of New England, and Gov. William H. Wills of Vermont.

The Vermont State Symphony orchestra achieved nation-wide notice this summer when acclaimed by metropolitan critics after its part in the Green Mountain Festival of the Arts held in Middlebury.

SLAVKI GROUITCH TO LECTURE HERE THURSDAY, OCT. 8

On Thursday, October 8, Mme. Slavki Grouitch will lecture in Middlebury. Madame Grouitch is the wife of the late Mr. Grouitch, distinguished Serbian diplomat since the early years of this century.

Mr. Grouitch bent all his effort towards freeing the Christian Serbs from Moslem rule until this was accomplished by the Balkan War of 1912. At the outbreak of the World War in 1914 he was acting head of the Belgrade Foreign office, and in that capacity received the ultimatum which was the prelude to the declaration of war. His answer to that document was described by a British writer as "a noble response to an ignoble insult."

Soon after his marrige in 1902, Mr. Grouitch was sent to Russia as Charge d'Affaires of the Serbian Legation, and and as governor of the King's son, later Alexander I.

From Leningrad he was sent to London for seven years and while there the education of the then heir to the throne was placed in his hands.

Madame Grouitch says that she is anxious to talk to people about the peril of the Christian religion in the countries invaded by the Nazis. She would also like an open forum for debate of whether it is more statesman like to surrender before force major as the Czechs did, the Rumanians and Bulgars, or fight to the limit of military strength for national honour.

New Members Added To Last Year's Faculty

Prof. Bruno M. Schmidt of the geology department. Mr. Robert Davis, last year a lecurer in Bible, returns as an instructor, and Mr. Dan P. Dickinson of the music department is now an assistant professor.

Replacing Prof. V. Spencer Goodreds of the department of drama and public speaking who is taking a year's sabbatical leave, is Mr. Henning Nelms. Mr. Nelms, who received a Master of Fine Arts degree from Yale university last year, comes to Middlebury from Houston, Texas, where he has been engaged in civic theater work. His assistant will be Mr. Erie Volkert, a graduate of Northwestern university in the school of speech, who taught at Randolph-Macon college in Lynchburg, Va., last year.

Retiring this year with the rank of professor emeritus is Prof. Lewis J. Hathaway, formerly head of the music department.

The resignation of Prof. Paul A. Rusby of the economics department has been accepted. His classes will be conducted for the present by Prof. Harry M. Fife.
